Polio Vaccine Arrives Today, Shots Start Mon.

By PAT RICKETTS, Senior

A representative from the Monterey County Health Department is on his way to Berkeley this afternoon to pick up the county's allotment of Salk Polio Vaccine for the first round of vaccinations to begin Monday, April 25, in all public, private, and parochial schools. The shots will be given to all first and second graders. First round vaccinations will continue for the first four days of next week, and the second round will begin on May 23.

The shots were to have started last Monday, but owing to the fact that the vaccine was needed more in the southern counties because the polio season starts there sooner, they were postponed here.

This shipment of the vaccine, enough for 135,000 shots, was made available to Northern California, arriving in Berkeley Wednesday.

It has been allocated to Santa Clara, Santa Cruz, Stanislaus, San Benito, Merced, Mariposa, Fresno, Madera, Tulare, Kern, Kings and Monterey counties.

Here Is Schedule For Public School Week In Carmel

Carmel High School will participate in Public Schools Week by having its annual open-house on Tuesday evening at 7:30. The P.-T.A. has requested that the high school have a shortened schedule in the evening so that the parents may attend the classes of their sons and daughters. After attending classes until approximately 9:00 o'clock, the parents will be served refreshments in the cafetorium.

For their part in Public Schools Week the River School will hold open-house for a few hours on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, at which times demonstrations of writing, reading, arithmetic, and social studies will be presented.

The only evening program will be held on Monday night and will

Editor's Column

Wait, people. Before you read any further make sure your knees and ankles are well-covered, and mercy! don't let the kids out of the house in those revealing dresses and blue jeans!

Let's face it. This "cover-up" campaign that has hit our unique village is something that will go down in history. We not only have made news in our local newspapers, but also made the second page in the San Francisco Chronicle.

But is this something to be proud of? I'll go along with the statement that Carmel is a quiet, undisturbed village and should be kept that way. But—a few people dressed in their summer clothes certainly aren't corrupting the town's reputation.

Along with being quiet and undisturbed, Carmel is also a resort town. This means, in case we may (or can, should I say?) forget, that we're going to be invaded with practically every type of person this world has to offer. And in these thousands there are bound to be a few who want to dress for the weather and the occasion.

This town has become a book of restrictions. For example, we can't cut down a tree because there's a restriction against it. I'm sure if one will think a minute, he'll realize that our pine trees are much too beautiful to cut down, and nine out of ten people will change their house plan just to leave a tree standing. But the thing that aggravates one is the fact that he couldn't have cut down the tree had he wanted to.

The same problem faces the "nudists." I feel if a person has nerve enough to walk around town half-clothed, let him make a fool of himself, but don't make a restriction against it. It will never work. The police are here to protect us from crime, not to spend their time chasing half-naked fools.

Let the restaurants and shops refuse these people service, but don't try to tell them they can't wear what they want. I'm sure there are many more serious problems confronting our City Council —say, parking districts, bumpy streets, and rotting trees????

This is the twenty-fifth annual school edition of the Carmel Pine Cone. All material has been collected and written by Carmel High and Sunset School students. Theme of the issue is Travel, suggested by the fact that so many graduating seniors are this year going abroad following graduation, either with their families or on their own.

Parking District Hearing Continued Until May 4

By PAT RICKETTS, Senior

I attended the Parking District Public Hearing last night with the expectation of hearing several loud protests against the proposed parking district. I didn't hear these protests, but they were presented in the form of a petition to the Carmel City Council. It was suggested by the Council that this petition be referred to the City Clerk, Peter Mawdsley, for verification of names, and that a later date be set for the final decision. Mr. Mawdsley stated to the Council that he had been assured that the petition contained $300,000 over the 51 percent assessed evaluation needed to kill the parking district now in the process of being formed by the council. This added up to 61 percent of the assessed evalution.

Mrs. Geraldine Smith heartily congratulated the industry of those who had worked on the petition—that is if they actually had

Board Recommends Regulations For Carmel Meadows

The first three items on this week's Planning Commission agenda dealt with building permits. A permit for Joe Belici for the expansion of the Mediterranean Market was held over until next Wednesday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock, when he will submit more complete plans to the Commission. Charles Watson was granted permission to expand his commercial building on Fourth Street near San Carlos.

In dealing with this same topic the Commission sent a recommendation to the City Council

CARMEL HOSTS GONZALES

Carmel will be in quest of its third victory in league competition when it takes on the invaders from Gonzales at Bardarson Field tomorrow.

Mike Mosolf, lanky Padre right-hander, will attempt to keep his teammates in contention for a possible tie for the league leadership with Pacific Grove as he will take to the mound against the Spartans.

The Padres will welcome back to the starting lineup hard-hitting leftfielder Bill McCormack, who has been sidelined with a back injury.

CARMEL TRACK TEAMS LOSE TWO TO KING CITY

King City's track teams' invasion of Carmel proved successful as they took both the varsity and the lightweight division.

The Carmel varsity cindermen were edged by a narrow margin of 59-54. Carmel's main trouble was that it was able to capture only five out of a possible thirteen first places.

Mike Mosolf turned in a fine individual performance as he took firsts in the 120 high hurdles and broad jump and a second in the high jump.

The only other first place winners were George Wightman in the mile and Don Rowe in the 180 low hurdles.

The Carmel lightweight cindermen were humiliated by the King City speedsters as the Ponies took an easy 69-44 victory.

The only lightweight winners were Dick Leutzinger in the 120 low hurdles and Don Petty in the shotput. Petty, who holds the school lightweight shotput record of 56 ft. 5 in. tossed the shot 54 ft. 11 in.

Bob Alvarez, Carmel's sprint star, was edged by King City speedster, Jim Pettit, in both the 75 and the 150 yard dash and he also fell inches short of Pettit in the broad jump.

Carmel will entertain the P. G. trackmen today on the Carmel field.

CONCOURS d'ELEGANCE

Probably one of the largest gatherings of luxurious cars, old and new, that has ever been viewed on the Monterey Peninsula was seen last Saturday afternoon on the lawn of the Del Monte Lodge. The 130 odd cars were viewed by over 15,000 people.

Cars rarely seen by the average person were on display, ranging from cars of the pre-1900's to the most modern of Italian, American and English designs.

The best and most impressive view of the Concours was seen from the balcony of the Del Monte Lodge. There, spread out before the visitors was a magnificent display of shining paint and polished chrome with Carmel and the blue Pacific in the background.

A complete list of the winners would take too much space, but here are a few. The over-all winner was Phil Hill's 1931 Pierce-Arrow. This car is one of the best restored cars in the country today. Other winners included Leland M. Lacey's 1897 Apperson - Haynes, Ray DeVault's 1937 Cord, and Katherine Ward's 1955 Alfa Romeo. —Greg Danelz, Senior

PADRES STRUGGLE TO 9-7 VICTORY OVER KING CITY

The Carmel Padres had to come from behind to defeat King City, 9-7, last Thursday afternoon at the King City ballpark.

The King City nine was breezing along at the long end of a 7-2 score in the sixth when the Padre batsmen exploded for six big runs to forge into a one-run advantage. The Padres picked up an additional run in the seventh to make the final score 9-7.

Mike Mosolf, who relieved Dick Jennings in the fifth, pitched a brilliant relief ball to gain credit for the victory. Mosolf now has a seasonal pitching record of 3 wins and 2 defeats. One of his victories was a one-hit decision over M.P.C.

The Padre lumbermen finally came to life as they sounded out nine timely base blows off two Mustang hurlers. Dick Jennings, Bob Michela, and Craig Chapman furnished the batting power as they blasted out two blows apiece. Michela, Carmel's stocky catcher, smashed out a two-run double to spark the Padres' sixth inning rally.

Taos Meletis, who is well-remembered for his basketball mastery over the Padres, was the individual batting star of the game as he clouted a homer and two singles in five times at bat.

This victory gives the Padres two wins against one loss in league play and an overall season record of 8 wins against 5 defeats.

SANTA CRUZ BOWS TO THE PADRES

Carmel, behind the effective two-hit pitching of Mike Mosolf, defeated a strong Santa Cruz nine by a final score of 4-2 on the Carmel field last Tuesday.

Going into the last half of the third inning on the short end of a 1-0 score, the Padres rallied to score four runs. The big show of this, four-run rally was a tremendous two-run double over the center fielder's head by Dick Jennings.

As the game progressed, it was evident that the game was going to be a pitching duel between the rival hurlers. The Santa Cruz pitcher limited the Padres to three hits throughout the contest. He had one bad inning when he was betrayed by a leaky infield in Carmel's third inning uprising.

Tiny freshman Timmy O'Shea showed his teammates that he has the ability for a fine baseball future with his amazing batting skills and fine defensive work. In his first time at bat in the third, O'Shea showed some of his batting finesse as he powered a long foul ball into the tennis courts in rightfield. Batting from the wrong side O'Shea had been up six times and collected five base knocks prior to the Santa Cruz game. His hits included a homer and two triples.

The Padres now sport a classy 9-5 record for the season.

ROAD RACES

Despite the heavy rain and cold wind, the 1955 version of the Pebble Beach Road Races was run in spectacular style. The races featured everything from the most modern sports cars to a 1906 Cadillac. To watch this spectacle, spectators stood in a constant downpour, protecting themselves with blankets, boxes, and every variety of rain coat and hat imaginable.

The racing itself was fast and furious on an extremely wet track. The first race, of 10 laps and for production cars under 1500 cc. was won by Springer Jones of Sacramento in a Porsche. He took an early lead that he never relinquished despite a brilliant effort by Dale Johnson of Redondo Beach, who was piloting another Porsche. The first four places in this event all went to Porsches. The Class Winners were G—Don Burlop, La Jolla, in an MG1TD; F—Springer Jones in a Porsche; H—Glenn St. Louis of Hayward in a Panhard convertible.

The second race, featuring production cars over 1500 cc., was another race of the leader never losing his lead. Ignacio Lozano of Los Angeles in a Jaguar XK-120 was far and away the winner. The best contest here resulted in the race for second place as Jerry Austen's Jaguar XK-120 just nipped Bob Weller in a Jaguar XK-140 MC. The class winners were E—Duane Rice of Belvedere in a Triumph TR2; D—Richie Gintherr of Hollywood in an Austin Healy; C—Lozano in his Jaguar.

At noon a special Vintage event featured the old time racing cars in an exciting race which gave the P.A. announcers time to show off their comedian talents.

The first big race of the afternoon was the Pebble Beach Cup Race for cars under 1500 cc. The race began just as the sky let loose with a heavy downpour that never let up. However, the wet track and hairpin turns didn't stop Ken Miles from taking an easy victory in his MG Special. He drove a steady race, pouring it on in the last few laps to win over Chick Leson of Lafayette in an OSCA. Third place was taken by another MG Special driven by Cy Yates of Los Angeles. The class winners were F—Miles; G—Skip Swartley of Laguna Beach in an OSCA; H—Harry Eyerly of Salem, Oregon, in a Crosley Special.

The big race of the day, the Del Monte Trophy for cars over 1500 cc., was a run away for Phil Hill and his Ferrari Monza. Pressed only at the start by Bill Pollack, Hill drove a steady race to lap all contenders except second place Sterling Edwards driving a similar Ferrari Monza. Third place went to Iron Man Ken Miles who again drove his MG Special. Class winners were F—Miles; E—Charles Rezzaghi of San Francisco in an Alfa Romeo; D—Hill; C—Brero of Arcata in a Jaguar XK-120M; B—Carl Block of Oakland in a Chrysler Allard.

Tell Me About Your Vacation . . . 6th Grade Interviews Citizens

LINOLEUM BLOCK designed and cut by Barbara Cooke, 6th grade.

PARIS AND MAJORCA

Our class has been interviewing people about their travels and writing a story about them. I interviewed my mother, Lydia R. Willcox.

Mother is in the antique business with her sister now, but from 1929 to 1933 she lived and traveled in Spain, England and France.

Two of the places mother liked best were the Island of Majorca, in the Mediterranean Sea off the coast of Spain, and Paris.

Mother liked the Island of Majorca because it had wild natural beauty, not spoiled by man-made things and also because it was so primitive.

Mother liked Paris because it has everything a big city offers, such as, museums, operas, theatres and good music, but the pace is slow, like a small town. She also liked the many ancient buildings and monuments and many lovely parks with small lakes for the children to sail their boats and also the daily Punch and Judy shows and donkeys to ride.

The Island of Majorca has lots of very old olive trees, gnarled and twisted as though with rheumatism. The farming is done in a very primitive manner. In order to thresh grain, a horse walks around and around on it. Many years ago, the people of Majorca fought their enemies with slings and stones. The open-air markets are full of colorful vegetables and fruits and the people are happy and contented.

Paris, France, has many historically interesting monuments and buildings. It has beautiful, wide avenues, dating back to Napoleon, as well as many very narrow, cobbled streets. There are many beautiful parks, many lovely fountains, and hundreds of old churches, the best known and most visited being the cathedral, Notre Dame. The Seine River flows through the middle of the city and there are many beautiful old bridges spanning it.

Once in Spain, Mother took a funicular (cable car) to the top of a mountain. She became so interested in exploring, she missed the last funicular down. Two hours later, someone heard her shouts and rescued her! Another time, Mother was being driven in the country when the car stalled, right on a narrow-gauge railroad track. A train came along and obligingly pushed the car until it started!

Mother thinks her experiences in Europe were wonderful and she would like to do it all over again.

—James Willcox, 6th Grade

MEXICAN HOLIDAY

Not long ago, Mr. and Mrs. Van Bibber, owners of the Carmel Cottage Court, went to Mexico for their vacation. The three places they visited were Mexico City, Guadalajara and Puerto Vallarta.

The city which impressed them most of all was Mexico City because of all the modern buildings. But the place they liked best was Puerto Vallarta. Puerto Vallarta is a beautiful city, built on a hillside overlooking beautiful Banderas Bay. There are beautiful sandy beaches and the hillsides are covered with palm trees. Not only is it a beautiful town but the people are very friendly and quite unspoiled by tourists.

Another city they visited was San Jose de Purua, which is centered around a radio-active spring. It has been known by the Indians for hundreds of years to have great curative power. Around these springs there has been built a beautiful hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Van Bibber had a wonderful trip and they hope to go back to Mexico many times in the future.

—Penny Wilson, 6th Grade

A TRIP TO YOSEMITE

Mrs. Jane Montgomery who made this trip to Yosemite said, "Yosemite is a wonderful place to go."

In the winter there is skiing and sledding.

In the summer there is shooting, archery, riding, beautiful waterfalls, and every night there are the firefalls.

If you get up real early you may see the bear and the deer.

Then you can go to the cafeteria and have wonderful meals.

It is a wonderful place to go.

We are lucky to have it in California.

—Richard Montgomery, 6th Grade

A TRIP TO EUROPE

My name is Craig Davis. I am interviewing Mrs. Glen Badgley, a secretary from Monterey. She has gone many different places in Europe. She lived in Paris in 1951-1953. She stayed in London for three weeks and Rome for two weeks. She liked London very much with its nice theaters and pensions. One of the amusing things that happened while she was in London, was when she went into a restaurant and began to order and the waitress began to laugh, "I can't understand your American drawl," said the waitress.

In general Mrs. Badgley thought her trip was very fascinating and she hopes to go back to Europe again some day.

—Craig Davis, 6th Grade

THE CHEDDAR CAVES

The person I interviewed was Mrs. Melvin E. Taylor. She has travelled quite a lot and has visited many places. She says she thought one of the most interesting places she had visited were the Cheddar Caves in the Gorges in Cheddar, England.

During her stay in England in 1936, she travelled by car through Cheddar and visited the famous caves there. These caves were the most beautiful, she thinks, she has ever seen. They were like visiting Fairyland. There were so many lovely colors and different formations. The caves are under the ground and are very large. They are all connected by passageways. Cheddar is also famous for the cheese made there.

—Gerald Taylor, 6th Grade

INTERVIEW ABOUT A TRIP TO EUROPE

One of our class projects was making an interview. This is the interview I made. I sat in Mrs. Woulf's livingroom asking questions about her trip to Europe, and this is what she told me.

"I have visted Austria, Germany and Italy. In Austria I was impressed by beautiful lakes and high, snowcapped mountains. The old castles gave me a glimpse of times gone by.

"In Germany I enjoyed the mild climate and green landscapes. The modern highways lead swiftly past quaint little historical towns.

"I admired Italy's architectural beauty and its ancient churches. Some of them have been there ever since Christianity came to Rome."

—Maurice Woulf, 6th Grade

MRS. SYLVIA JORDAN'S TRIP TO PERU AND BOLIVIA

Mrs. Jordan has visited Bolivia in 1952, and Peru in 1954. During this time she was teaching in the schools in those South American countries.

One of the places she visited in Bolivia was La Paz which is at an elevation of 13,000 feet in the Andes Mountains. This town has a very old mint and a cathedral. It also has few horses, quite a lot of llamas and a few cattle. Just a short distance from Altiplano are found some sand dunes which is unusual at this altitude. The sand is a yellowish color, not white as is seen in Carmel.

Mrs. Jordan also went to Peru. While there she visited Potosi located at the bottom of Silver Hill. This town is very colonial and has very little modern things. The streets are very narrow and crooked. The houses have stone walls and tile roofs. Its churches are very pretty. The Indians in Potosi let their hair grow long. It is braided in two braids as the North American Indian women wear their hair.

Mrs. Jordan took an airplane trip from Lima, Peru to Iquitos, which is on the Amazon River. During the rainy season ocean steamers come up the river to Iquitos to get rubber. They bring tile up the river over a thousand miles from the mouth of the Amazon. Mrs. Jordan took a trip up one of the 17 tributaries of this huge river.

We asked Mrs. Jordan if she had any special place she liked best in South America. She said that she liked every bit of it and had no special place she liked best.

AUSTRIA

In a recent interview I had with my aunt, Mrs. Alton Walker, I found out many interesting things about the country of Austria.

The scenery there is simply wonderful! There are lovely green fertile valleys, with many waterfalls. In the spring the valleys are covered with beautiful wild flowers and sparkling streams run down the mountainside.

Some of the interesting cities in Austria besides Vienna are Imsburg and Linz and Salzburg. Salzburg was the birth place of Mozart, one of the most famous composers. The composer of our beautiful Christmas hymn Silent Night was born here, too.

The clothes of the people are very quaint and pretty. On the hats of the men and boys are lit-

Public Invited To All Day Tri-Co. Musical Festival

By XENIA KLOTZ, Senior

Local students will participate in the Annual Coast Counties Section of Music Educators Conference, which is being held in Carmel for the first time in seven years. Two years ago, however, the Elementary Conference was held at Carmel High School.

This year the Music Festival is represented by three counties: Santa Cruz, Monterey and San Benito. There will be 25,000 students or more representing these counties.

The Festival will take place Saturday and will run from 8:30 to 5:30 o'clock. The music groups and the audiences have become so popular and large that the whole schedule has had to be changed to accommodate them. The instrumental groups have all been placed in the gym at Carmel High School, and the vocal groups will all be at Sunset School Auditorium.

There will be a critical analysis of all the certain groups participating in this event by instrumental and vocal adjudicators. These men who are very highly rated are, Gibson Walters, associate professor of music, San Jose State College; Harold Heisinger, co-ordinator of instrumental music, Stockton Unified School District; Robert Fiester, director of bands, San Jose State Colege; Williams J. Eslendson, acting head, department of music, San Jose State College, and Harold Younberg, music supervisor for the Oakland City schools. John Farr, teacher of music at Carmel High School, is the Festival chairman for the convention.

The main local groups that are participating in the event are: Pacific Grove School with band and orchestra under the direction of Raymond Washburn; a chorus from Pacific Grove under the direction of Morris Dill; a band from Monterey High School with Clifford Anderson; a glee club and chorus from Monterey under Rue Manhire; choir, orchestra and band groups from Carmel High under the direction of John Farr. There will be many other groups from all over the three counties. The public is invited to attend any or all of these programs. There will be no admissions charge.

The instrumental program consists of the following: 8:30 El Sausal Salinas Orchestra; 8:55 Carmel Orchestra; 9:20 Washington Jr. High Salinas Orchestra; 9:45 Pacific Grove Orchestra; 10:10 Mission Hill Santa Cruz Orchestra; 10:35 Watsonville Orchestra; 11:00 Branciforte Santa Cruz Orchestra; 11:25 Salinas Orchestra; 11:50 Santa Cruz Orchestra; 12:15 Pacific Grove Band; 12:40 King City Band; 1:05 El Sausal Band; 1:30 Mission Hill Band; 1:55 Washington Band; 2:20 San Lorenzo Band (Boulder Creek); 2:45 Hollister Band; 3:10 Santa Cruz Band; 3:35 Salinas Band; 4:00 Monterey Band; 4:25 Watsonville Band; 4:50 Gonzales Band; 5:15 Carmel Band.

The vocal program: 9:00 Monterey Girls; 9:15 Moreland Notre Dame School for Girls from Watsonville; 9:30 Salinas Boys; 9:45 El Sausal Boys; 10:00 Washington Boys; 10:15 Salinas Girls; 10:30 El Sausal Girls; 10:45 Washington Girls; 11:00 King City Girls; 11:15 Mission Hill Mixed Chorus; 11:30 Washington Mixed Chorus; 11:45 El Sausal Mixed Chorus—Lunch—1:15 Notre Dame Choir; 1:30 Salinas Girls' Choir; 1:45 Santa Cruz A Cappella; 2:00 Monterey Mixed Chorus; 2:15 Salinas A Capella; 2:30 Watsonville Mixed Chorus; 2:45 Pacific Grove Mixed Chorus; 3:00 Gonzales Mixed Chorus; 3:15 Carmel Choir.

PAYMENT DEFERRED

Final performances of Payment Deferred in the Golden Bough Players Circle will take place this weekend, Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings at 8:00 o'clock. The play, under Lee Crowe's direction, has proved one of the most successful of any produced to date in Carmel's arena theatre.

The next play, opening on Friday of the following weekend, April 29, 30 and May 1, will be Terence Rattigan's The Deep Blue Sea, in which Ruth Warshawsky will enact the role created in New York by Margaret Sullavan. Don Gunderson is directing.

Dept. Defense Asks Over 2 Million For Construction Here

The Pine Cone received the following telegram yesterday from Representative Charles M. Teague:

"Department of Defense Wednesday submitted to Congress request for authorization for military construction in following amounts: Presidio of Monterey, $1,878,000; Fort Ord, $1,407,000; Naval Postgraduate School, $119,000. I shall do my utmost to see that these requests are authorized and subsequent appropriations follow."

So They Talked Latin And Look What Happened

By Peter de Petra, 7th Grade

I have talked with Dr. Giulio de Petra who was a lawyer in Italy before coming to the United States seven years ago. For more than four years he has lived in Carmel. He is chairman of the Italian Department at the Army Language School and at present he also teaches Italian for adults in the evening at Sunset School.

Dr. de Petra has traveled all over Europe and Africa mostly because, for many years, he was the walking champion of Italy and Europe. He knows every little spot in Italy since he lived there for many years, and naturally, he finds Italy one of the most beautiful places in the world.

Among his travels he always remembers one trip he took to Germany. He didn't speak a word of German then. He was very much impressed by Berlin, a huge city full of colors and life. He still remembers and mentions the marvelous city called Kurfustendam, full of open cafes and restaurants.

But this is not all. He came back to Italy with many trophies he had won in international walking championships. Taking advantage of a stop the train had made for a few minutes, he went into a shop inside the station to buy some candies. When he went back to the train, whom did he find in his compartment? The woman who was to be his future wife. Now the future Mrs. de Petra couldn't speak a word of Italian and Dr. de Petra couldn't speak a word of German. How could they understand each other? They managed through a few words of Latin they had both studied in school.

I understand why Dr. de Petra will always remember that trip he took to Germany and why he still speaks about it.

U.N. Helps Toward Effective Foreign Policy Says Oliver

By Priscilla Clark, Senior

Dr. Covey T. Oliver of the University of California, spoke before the World Affairs Council of the Monterey Peninsula last Monday evening at 8:00 o'clock. Dr. Oliver told an interested audience at All Saints' Episcopal Church his views on United States Foreign Policy and the United Nations. Mr. Frank Elton, president of our local World Affairs Council, introduced the speaker, who is a professor of international law at Berkeley at the present time.

Dr. Oliver began his speech by asking his audience what we mean by the United Nations? He said everyone has a different image of this organization, but he doubted that we all know the truth. "The United Nations is more or less a continuing conference of sovereign states, working within fairly well-defined charter provisions with an international staff to do the administrative work," was Dr. Oliver's definition. He emphasized that it is "not a superstate,—not even a parliament of man, but a continuous conference with a wide range of interests taken up."

The main point he made was that the United Nations is helping the United States to pursue an effective foreign policy. The United Nations is a convenient channel for us to carry on our operations and also to show our leadership. The United States wants to discourage aggression, and the United Nations can help us do it in the most effective way. All the small nations of the world are much more likely to be on our side if we speak softly and reasonably in this so-called "Town Meeting of the World," than if we order them and threaten to injure them if they do not follow out our wishes.

The United Nations is trying to bring the rule of law into the world, but it must not be an imposed law as in the days of Rome, but a democratically arrived at and a democratically enforced law.

After he had finished speaking, Dr. Oliver answered questions from the audience.

WHERE MADAM PELE LIVES

The name of the person I interviewed is Mrs. H. O. Hansen, a housewife in Carmel. In August of 1954 she was travelling from Honolulu, which is on the island of Oahu, to Hilo, which is on the island of Hawaii, by airplane. Hawaii is the largest island of the Hawaiian Islands.

When I asked her what she considered interesting on her trip, she said that several things had interested her very much. From the air it surprised her to note that one island would look brown and the next one to it appeared to be green. As only a few miles of water separates them, this was an unexpected sight, she said.

Another thing that had impressed her was that the stewardess on the plane, who was a mixture of Oriental and Hawiian, was very pretty and exceedingly capable.

Mrs. Hansen said the next sight to interest her was the big volcano crater on the island of Hawaii, where the old Hawaiians believe that Madam Pele still lives. In their legends Madam Pele was goddess of the volcanoes, and when angry she would cause the volcanoes to erupt.

The last thing that impressed Mrs. Hansen, and which she said she enjoyed especially, was the Hilo Airport. She said: "When we went into the airport lobby there were baskets of orchids hanging on the walls; when we went into the restaurant we found that they served American, Japanese, Chinese and Hawaiian foods; and when we left the restaurant we found old Hawaiian women selling flower leis of every color. The leis were so beautiful that my daughter and I decided we had to have two of them."

It was Mrs. Hansen's opinion that travellers to Honolulu should try to take the extra plane trip to Hilo.

LAND OF MANY-FLAVORED ICE CREAM

In the year 1937, my mother, Mrs. Joseph Giarratana, left her home country to come to America as an exchange teacher under the auspices of the English Speaking Union.

She sailed from Greenock, Scotland to New York on a ship called the Samaria. My mother enjoyed this experience of sailing across the Atlantic for the first time to America, about which she had read so much.

The Samaria passed the Statue of Liberty and sailed into New York Harbor on the very hot day of August 29, 1937. My mother had heard of how cold it got in winter in New York but had not known about the heat in summer, and so unfortunately, few of her clothes were suitable. She liked the many different foods in the restaurants and the number of flavors of ice cream.

After being in New York two or three days she took a tour of the city in a bus. The buildings were far taller than those of Britain.

My mother left New York in a comfortable, air-conditioned train for Princeton, New Jersey. Princeton is a pretty university town with tree-lined streets and friendly people. Most of the houses are wood painted white and seemed like doll houses. In Scotland the houses are usually built of stone or brick.

At Princeton School my mother had her first contact with progressive education and found it very interesting. It was hard for her at first to pronounce the names of the children she was teaching, because the names were foreign to her. She was accustomed to Scottish names.

While teaching at Princeton, my mother met her husband-to-be, who was doing research work at the University. Because of this meeting I was able to interview my mother.—Patricia Giarratana, 7th Grade

A WONDERFUL PLACE TO STUDY OLD MASTERPIECES

Leslie Emery is one of the best known artists of Carmel. One of his paintings is internationally known, The Immaculate Heart of Mary. Many of you will remember seeing it at the Carmel Art Gallery.

Mr. Emery has travelled all over the world. A few of the places that he has visited are Africa, Italy, Mexico and Canada. Of these places, the one he liked best is Italy. The people there were very warm and friendly toward him, and Italy is a very wonderful place to study old masterpieces.

Mexico is also an intriguing place. It is a casual sort of country and has beautiful scenery. While down in Mexico, Leslie Emery took a series of pictures and made a few sketches of a Mexican man. When he was through the man asked where he lived. When Mr. Emery said Carmel, California, the Mexican replied, "Then why don't you drop in and see my daughter sometime? She lives in Chicago."

Of all the places that this artist has visited, he told me that he liked Carmel the vest best.

NORWAY (BEFORE AND UNTIL 1938)

"It was fun to be a child in Norway because I could go skiing and ice skating in winter, but too, it was very cold", Olga Rosenfeld began. "The schools where I went were good and the girls learned much cooking, sewing and knitting.

"As we have Easter in the moment, it is interesting to think how many of us went up into the mountains to stay in a cabin or hotel because Easter in Norway has a five day holiday and many people have some extra days. It made a nice winter vacation and the mountains were beautiful at that time of the year with all the snow and sunshine. The cities were rather empty.

"As for transportation, we used trains, ships, buses, and very few cars.

"Oslo, where I lived, had the most gorgeous and most beautiful surroundings. We were very used to go the woods. The city is very small to be a capital, but I and my four brothers and sisters loved it. It had very good theaters—even a special children's theater. In the winter it is always dark and in the middle of the summer it just had two hours of a dim night."

Mrs. Rosenfeld ended by saying, "All in all, I loved it and was happy to have been born in the land of the midnight sun."

Elizabeth Hay Gives Red Eagle Portrait To Carmel Library

A portrait of Red Eagle, Choctaw Indian who made his home in Carmel for many years before his death several years ago, hangs in the Children's Room of the Carmel Library. It was recently donated to the library by Elizabeth Hay, who painted the picture.

Elizabeth Hay has lived in Carmel as an artist for nine years. Some of her works have been exhibited in one of the Art Galleries in San Francisco. She has also exhibited some of her works in the Carmel Art Gallery.

She does most of her work in oils, although she has occasionally done pastels. Most of her portraits have been done of children.

In 1930-31 Elizabeth Hay spent one year of study and travel in Europe. Most of her time was spent in France and Italy. Then in 1933 Miss Hay began the portrait of Red Eagle. Red Eagle kindly gave Miss Hay some of his time, so that she could paint the portrait from real life. Before she began to paint him, he asked her to chose from a selection of headdresses the one that she wished him to wear. She selected a headdress, which happened to be the one which his uncle had worn when he was a chief.

Red Eagle was, indeed, a historical figure. He had been a part of Buffalo Bill Cody's western traveling show. He was also an adopted son of Buffalo Bill. When the whole show went to London, Red Eagle went along with them. In later years he came to Carmel, where he was liked by all who knew him.

Red Eagle was very fond of the children in Carmel and he put on many shows for both the Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts. He was also very helpful, for if the children wished to know anything about Indian life, he was very happy to help them.

When Miss Hay realized that she was going to leave Carmel for a while, she decided that the portrait should stay in Carmel, so that the children could enjoy it. She decided therefore, to leave it in the library, where all the children could see it. The painting had been on exhibit in the Carmel Art Gallery before she gave it to the library.

The costume, in which Red Eagle was painted, is of buffalo hide and the beads on the costume were put on by Red Eagle himself.

Miss Hay plans to continue her painting, although she is leaving Carmel temporarily to visit her sisters in Oregon. She plans to come back to Carmel in the near future.

Youth Follies "Best Ever"

By TANIA SARGEANT, Senior

Last weekend the sixth annual Carmel Youth Follies concluded with an enthusiastic gush of applause, which unquestionably proves that this year's Follies were the "best ever".

MCs Pat Grimshaw and Buzz Knight carried on the action and introductions for the hour and fifteen minute show, performed on both Friday and Saturday nights, with professional skill and plenty of humor.

Highlights of the show included a tense Filipino bambo dance by Flora Valasquez and Felix Militante, Jr., performed with two eight-foot bamboo poles.

David Junkin, who won prolonged applause for his beautiful rendition of Because, also sang two duets with his very talented partner, Deryl Head.

Another musical highlight of the show was The Prune Pickers, featuring Chris Gray on bass, David Gray on the guitar, John Thompson on sax, Bert Macahalig on drums, and Barbara Pollack at the piano. The Cornish Rhapsody, a piano solo by Judy Paplow, was another outstanding moment in the show.

Among the many humorous moments featured was the hilarious "H" scene and the pantomimes of Bill Ferguson, an early riser, and Craven Ross the fisherman.

The Miyamoto sisters, Janet and Sandy, who have been perennial favorites in the youth follies in the past definitely pleased the audience again this year with their baton twirling act.

Rounding out the show was the Youth Center Glee Club directed by John Farr. The Glee Club sang several songs of the gay 90's, while an eight-foot shadow box framed each offering.

Ave Maria Shop Has New Owners

New owners of the Ave Maria Book and Specialty Shop are Dr. Margaret C. Brewington and her niece, Helen Margaret Gaynor. They recently purchased the shop from Dr. Kim Canaverro and moved the location from Dolores Street to Pine Inn.

In addition to religious books and medals, the new owners will also carry gifts, cards and novelties. Dr. Brewington, a retired M.D., lived for many years in Albuquerque, where she practiced. At one time she was called upon to take charge of a Navajo reservation where a typhoid epidemic was raging and she was able to locate the cause of the epidemic as well as to quell it in a period of four months.

A "horse and buggy" doctor, she performed many an operation on a kitchen table in a remote section of the New Mexican country, and successfully delivered thousands of babies as well. A native of Scotland, she received her medical education in Southern California.

Miss Gaynor has made music her career, and is an organist of note. They both have lived in Carmel for two years, where they own their home.

Carole Larsen's Recital Proves Very Enjoyable

By Judy Paplow, Junior

A very pleasant hour and a half was spent Sunday afternoon in the Copper Cup Room of the Naval Post Graduate School by the members of the Musical Arts Club and their guests.

The artist was Miss Carole Larsen, lyric soprano, who sang a delightful program full of nice variety. Miss Larsen began with Pamina's area from The Magic Flute by Mozart and ended with three ballads by Aaron Copland.

Especially enjoyable was a group of five selections by Grieg, sung in Norwegian. Miss Larsen presented them competently and with feeling.

Miss Larsen has been guest soloist on many radio networks, including the Oslo International Broadcasting Company in Norway. She has been selected to sing two operas by Darius Malhaud, under the direction of the San Francisco Opera Company, for the Merola fund, on May 27.

Miss Larsen was accompanied by Don Jones.

Contour Chair Shop Moves To Carmel

Like so many others who are now permanent residents of Carmel, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis K. Hunter realized a dream of many years' standing when they purchased a home here in the Mission Tract a year ago.

At that time they also opened their Contour Chair Shop in the Forest Hill Shopping Center on the Carmel-Pacific Grove turnoff. This week they have moved their establishment to Carmel and are now located on Fifth Street two doors east of the post office. They also purchased the Viking Sails gift shop at this location and will operate it along with their Contour Chair Shop.

Originally from the San Joaquin Valley, they have lived in California for the past 26 years. They are parents of two sons, Lewis K. Hunter, Jr., who teaches in the Los Altos Public School System, and David, who is a junior at Carmel High School.

The official opening of the shop is tomorrow, and the public is invited to come in and meet the owners.

Noel Sullivan Loves Animals And Trees

By Robin Burnham, Junior

I drove up the long steep driveway and parked my car. From the grounds surrounding the house I could see Noel Sullivan was an animal lover, for there were many large yards, in which were various types of animals. Mr. Sullivan later explained to me that, as a boy, his parents had always given him many animals. Surprisingly enough, he lists goats as his favorites and when he moved to Carmel Valley, he started a goat dairy farm. This farm was later moved to San Benito; then abandoned. Mr. Sullivan still has a few goats and he calls his female ones "old ladies in retirement." In one of the yards I noticed there was a young doe, which he told me had been hit by an automobile in Pebble Beach. He took care of the doe, until now, she is strong and well again.

Mr. Sullivan is also fond of trees. He feels they add so much to cities, as well as rural districts. "Everytime a tree is cut down, another one should be planted in its place," says Mr. Sullivan.

Our peninsula is fortunate, indeed, to be able to claim a man who is doing so much to preserve the natural beauty of our surroundings.

InterviewWithMr.Mayer

By DAVID FARR and DEEN ROWE, 8th Grade

Mr. Milton Mayer's work takes him everywhere and he almost always takes his family with him. While he was a visiting professor in Germany in 1952, he lived in a small town. His children went to school at a German school and learned German. His children also played with the German children and became very fond of them and thought that they were wonderful people. Before they had gone to Germany they had been afraid of the Germans because of the Gestapo.

A magazine now wants to send Mr. Mayer to Russia, and he would be able to take his family with him. He also hopes that, like in Germany, his family will find out that the Russians are also very wonderful people. He then quoted from the Bible the sentence, "God has made of one blood all the nations." And Mr. Mayer believes this.

Mr. Mayer thinks that Yugoslavia is the most interesting place he has been in because it is a Communist-held country. Like all Communist countries it is a very poor country. Because the people are very poor, they will accept any form of government that will give them food and shelter and will overthrow any government that does not do this. So as long as the living standard of Yugoslavia is rising, the dictatorship of Tito will not be overthrown.

INTERVIEW OF MR. ERNEST GANN

By DITS REQUIRO and ELINORE MACDONALD, 8th Grade

Mr. Ernest Gann, the famous writer of the novels and films, The High and the Mighty and Island in the Sky, has given us the pleasure of letting us interview him on his travels.

When Mr. Gann was asked to name the places he visited, his answer was, "All of Europe, all of Africa, Greenland, Iceland, all of North, South and Central America, China, Japan, and Arabia." In other words, "Around the World." He crossed the Atlantic Ocean one hundred and twenty-four times. He does not know how many times he crossed the Pacific Ocean. He has never visited Russia and isn't very anxious to do so.

Mr. Gann thought that the most fascinating city in the world is Hongkong with its beautiful harbor and the lavender colored sails of the many junks found there. His latest novel, Soldier of Fortune has just been filmed there. Three hundred and eighty junks were hired for the picture.

Mr. Gann likes the United States best because it has better standards of living. We also asked him about the other places he liked and his answer was, "North Africa and the Gold Coast because they haven't changed very much. They are so much like 1,000 years ago."

Some beautiful cities that he mentioned are Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, and San Francisco, California. If you like Latin American music, especially samba, Rio de Janeiro is the place for you. San Francisco is, of course, noted for the Golden Gate Bridge.

He told us (in his own opinion) that the ugliest cities are Los Angeles, California; Antwerp, Belgium; and Liverpool, England; because they were flat, full of buildings and just don't have any beauty in them at all.

We asked his opinion of Carmel and he answered, "Carmel is a wonderful place, and I chose this place to live in after all the places I have been. Anybody is lucky to be able to live here. If only there were not so many tourists! We should put a wall around it and charge the tourists $100 per hour to be able to stay in here. Maybe we could afford places to park, then. Maybe if there was a wall, we would not be short of parking spaces. Unfortunately people have found out that Carmel has a very good climate, which is another reason for my liking a wall built around it."

NIGHT LIGHTS

Shooting Stars
Across the freckled sky,
Gambol freely,
Only to die.

Moonlight;
A golden band on oily sea,
Like a highway
To eternity.

Ships light;
A minute thing.
A beacon
Of man, the self-throned king.

Stars;
A million score,
Shining
Forevermore.

THE MEADOW

The thin, green tentacles of a willow tree
Dipped gently in the breeze and reminded me
Of a conductor's baton directing a soothing melody.
A blue, clear-watered stream flowed by
And rippled softly at the west wind's sigh
That swept up leaves, then left. By and by
There was peace in the meadow.

In the water, a young buck glanced
At his image, then off he danced
And leaped and ran and gaily pranced.
In the meadow, a rabbit stopped to scan
A nearby hill, then wheeled and ran
Away from a scent, the smell of man.
There was peace in the meadow.

—TERRY SHAMES, Freshman

THE APPLE TREE

When winds blow and snow covers the ground
The apple tree stands bare and brown.
But when the days become warm and long,
The sting and bite of winter has gone.

Blossoms that are white and frail
Cover the tree like a wedding veil.
The children dance around and sing
And wait for the apples the tree will bring.

The lazy sun sprinkles its golden earth,
And the air is filled with sweet mirth.
The white petals have long drifted away,
But in their place are objects round and gay.

The days have grown short and cold.
The leaves are changing to brown and gold.
A breeze comes, the leaves gently float down
To settle serenely on the frosted ground.

White flakes are falling gently down,
And again the tree stands bare and brown.
Now it no longer hears the happy shouts
Of the children that skipped and ran about.

China Sea Freighter Trip

By JULIE CAMPBELL, 6th Grade

My mother and father lived in Shanghai, China for the first two years they were married. This was before World War II. After being in China for one year, they boarded a small fifteen hundred ton China Sea freighter at the Bund in Shanghai. It was February and snow was falling. Their destination was Bangkok, Thailand.

The officers of the ship were Scotch and English. The crew was Chinese. There were many Chinese passengers in the hold below deck. The ship was taking a load of garlic from Swatow in South China to Saigon, Indo-China.

My mother and father ate with the ship's officers. Sometimes at night they would look down in the hold and watch some of the Chinese smoking opium. Opium is a dope and very bad for people.

I should mention that the war between China and Japan was going on. Japan held most of the Chinese coast except Swatow which was still in Chinese hands. A week before Mother and Father arrived in Swatow, Japanese airplanes had bombed it. They stayed overnight in a Swatow hotel. Two days after they left the city was bombed again.

The next port was Hongkong Harbor which was filled with junks, sampans and big ships from all over the world. Mother and Father hailed a passing sampan when their ship was anchored out in the harbor and were taken ashore. They took a cable tram up to the top of the peak above Hongkong and looked down on the beautiful harbor below which was ringed with millions of lights. A thunder storm began while they were on the peak. One of the bolts of lightning hit an iron rail about 100 feet from my mother and father and gave them an exciting moment.

The ship then left Hongkong to steam across the South China Sea. The weather got warmer as the ship was nearing very tropical territory. The sunsets were very beautiful and flame-like. There were many schools of flying fish which sailed through the air for some distance before going into the water again.

Finally the ship arrived at Saigon which was very hot. My parents hired a car to drive across the jungles of Indo-China to the border of Thailand. Because the weather was so hot they would get up at 4:00 o'clock each morning to miss the heat. They saw and rode on elephants. They saw a big black ape swinging through the trees in the jungle.

They visited the palace of the King of Cambodia whose throne room was paved with silver.

At Angkor they saw miles of old deserted castles, many of which were swallowed up by the jungles. They also saw native dances performed by torch light near moats of old castles in the middle of the jungle.

My parents then left Indo-China and travelled across Thailand in a wood-burning train. They visited a cobra farm in the capitol city of Bangkok and saw hundreds of them. They visited the king's palace which had all the colors of the rainbow in it and a sacred white elephant. There were tall colorful temples all over the city. Bangkok uses canals for streets and they are filled with small boats. People step out of their doors into boats to go to market or to school. The mosquitoes are so big and fierce that the hotels give gunny sacks to women when they sit down to eat dinner. They pull the gunny sacks up over their legs.

When Mother and Father left Bangkok they were again on their ship which had caught up with them. This time they took a load of water buffaloes as their cargo for China.

The trip was five thousand miles long, took one month and cost only $75 for each of them because ship fares were so cheap to buy in Shanghai.

"He Begins To Think Of Something Besides How To Make A Living"

By RENEE VALLON, Senior

Mr. C. Edward Graves, the Western Representative for the National Parks Association, is going to attend a meeting which is being called by the Desert Protective Council. This meeting is going to be held in Joshua Tree National Monument. The purpose of the Desert Protective Council is to protect all desert areas from various kinds of commercial threats. The parks are all to be left as they were originally, without any commercial changes whatsoever.

At the meeting of the council, two commercial proposals are going to be discussed. The first is a proposal for opening the Joshua National Monument to mining. According to the mining law, anyone can claim land for mining purposes, however, they have to do a certain amount of work in the mines, in order to keep them. Having acquired this land, the people would naturally build homes on it. This is against the park laws, of course. This mining proposal is supported by the possibility of finding uranium in the park. The second proposal, which the council is meeting to discuss, is the wish to build a high-speed highway through the middle of the park. On one side of the park there is a big Marine station, while on the opposite side there is the city of Indio. The people of this town wish the Marines to travel the highway in order to get to their town, which would mean more trade to the local merchants.

Also at this meeting the council will discuss the question of building a tramway on Mt. San Jacinto slopes. Mr. San Jacinto is, by the way, very close to Palm Springs.

In 1945 the State Legislature passed a law creating the Winter Park Authority, giving it the power to sell bonds, in order to build a tramway on the slopes of Mt. San Jacinto. Mt. San Jacinto is a State Park, or as it is sometimes called a Wilderness State Park. The conservation groups have been trying to get this act repealed. There is a bill in the Legislature now, which they are trying to get passed to repeal this act to prevent building of the tramway.

Mr. C. Edward Graves is going to Sacramento on April 27 to attend a hearing. This hearing will be a meeting held for both sides of the argument. The Legislature will then vote on the bill sometime next month.

Some of the other threats which the conservation organization has been fighting are dam building and logging projects in the National and State Parks.

A few months ago Mr. Graves received a letter from a seventh grader, who goes to one of the schools in California. The following is the letter.

"Dear Sir: I'm a seventh grade boy who is studying conservation and I would really appreciate it if you would send me something on Beauty."

The following is the letter Mr. Graves sent back to the boy.

"Dear David:

You have asked me to send you something on Beauty, something that you can use in your study of conservation. I am glad that your teacher has talked to you so much about the beauty of the national parks. That was really the main reason why they were made into national parks in the first place. They were kept for the enjoyment of the people of the United States instead of being used to make money for a few people who happen to live near them.

The beauty of their scenery can't be measured in dollars and cents, though it causes people to spend large amounts of money in traveling to visit them. This in turn helps business men who have service stations or motels or restaurants or garages or stores of different kinds. However, their greatest value is of an entirely different kind.

Beauty in nature is something that freshens a person up. We sometimes use the word "inspiration" in talking about it. If he has been thinking about work all the year, the sight of great waterfalls or snow-capped mountains or gorgeous wildflower fields or towering cliffs with blue lakes nestling below them changes the working of his mind. He begins to think about something besides how to make a living.

He looks at the glorious color of finely sculptured rocks, as at Bryce Canyon National Park; he peers into the great depths of a river canyon, as at Grand Canyon National Park; he wonders at the immense power of a moving glacier, as at Mount Rainier National Park; or he looks up at the majestic outline of the highest granite cliff in the world, El Capitan in Yosemite National Park.

He knows that very soon he has to go back to work in the city or on the farm, where these great examples of natural beauty are not to be seen. So for a few days or weeks he lets them fill his thoughts; and when he returns, all freshened up from his visit in these places of great beauty, he thanks Uncle Sam that they are always to be kept in their natural state so that his children and their children can get the same inspiration from them that has made a new man out of him."

Jeanne Fratessa Invited To B Of A Selections Event

Yesterday, students selected from among the winners of the Bank of America Achievement Awards in Monterey, San Benito, San Luis Obispo and Santa Cruz counties, attended a selection event in Salinas in response to invitations from the screening committee for the Awards Program.

Jeanne Fratessa, Carmel High School Senior, was invited to attend the event in the field of Liberal Arts. One winner in each field (Liberal Arts, Fine Arts, Science and Mathematics and Vocational Arts) will be chosen to attend the state-wide event in Sacramento where the winners of all zones will be present. Here, the four students chosen in the zone event will be assured of at least $100 in cash awards, while awards as high as $1,000 are to be presented.

The Achievement Awards Program is held annually throughout California for the purpose of stimulating student initiative and to give recognition to outstanding high school youths. Linda Bain, in the field of mathematics, and Jeanne Fratessa, in the field of Liberal Arts, are the only award winners from Carmel High School who have also been invited to the Salinas regional competition since the program originated.

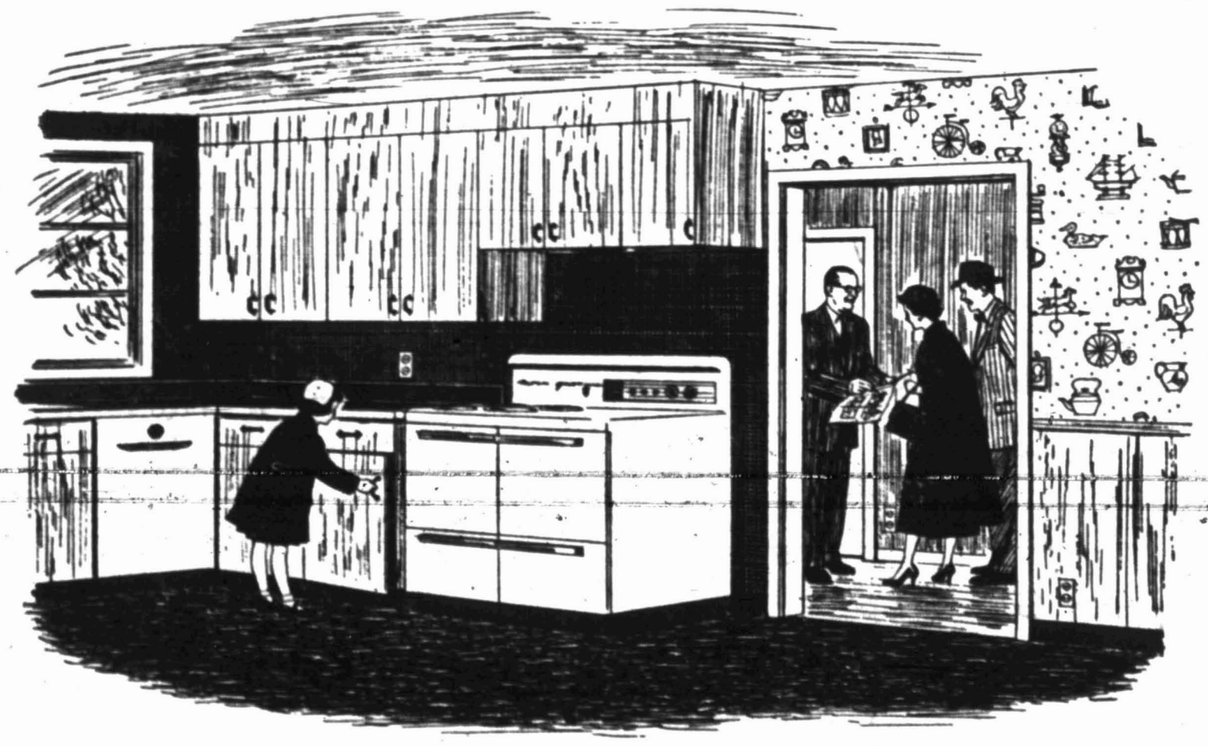
make sure it's wired for modern living!


Don't let an inadequate wiring system take the joy out of living in your new home! Today's living requires adequate electric current—to feed all the lighting fixtures and appliances you enjoy now, or plan to add later. To make sure the home you buy can provide the power you need, insist that your builder give you a "Certificate of Adequate Wiring." It's your proof of a first rate job.
If you're remodeling—ask a qualified electrical contractor to check the wiring. There's no obligation. And if your home needs its wiring system modernized, the small cost can be financed on an easy-payment plan, available at most leading California banks and lending agencies. Make the most of modern living . . : with plenty of power from an up-to-date wiring system!

Carmel Woman's Club Meets

On Monday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock, the Carmel Woman's Club will have a meeting for those interested in gardening and homemaking. The speaker will be Mrs. C. J. Ryland. Mrs. Ryland plans to divide her time into two parts, the first half will be devoted to a discussion on How to Grow Azaleas, Camellias, and Rhododendrons. The second will be a brief talk on Wild Flower Conservation in this area. This will be accompanied by a film on Wild Flowers of the Western States. The tea for the afternoon has been planned by Misses Mabel Steen and Eva Dunbar and their committee.

Bob O'Brien Off Again!

Next Wednesday Bob O'Brien will be off again—this time for a trip back East. He plans on visiting some of his forty-two relatives—all of whom he is on speaking terms with—and looking over the coming big league baseball season.

First he plans on visiting Kansas City, where he has one brother. Another brother, however, is coming up from St. Louis to visit also. Then he and one of his brothers will drive on to Keokrik, Iowa, Mr. O'Brien's birthplace. Here he will visit with his sister. Then he will go on to New Jersey to see his grandson at college. In New York, Mr. O'Brien will visit with friends and cousins, but he plans to take plenty of time out to catch all the big league baseball games in New York, Philadelphia, and possibly Cincinnati.

James Silliman Is Honored

Several hundred people greeted Republican James Silliman, senatorial candidate for the May 3 election, throughout the day on Thursday of last week.

Mrs. Frank Creede opened the day's activities at her Carmel Point home with a coffee and doughnut hour. Later in the day a Patio Party was held at Mrs. Harry B. Gantt's home where Mr. Silliman greeted over 50 people. At 3:00 o'clock in the afternoon, Mrs. Lodema Murray opened her home to many callers. Mrs. Murray was assisted by Mrs. Haldane Fisher and Mrs. Mamie Harris. At 4:00 o'clock Mr. Silliman was at Mrs. Arthur Dresser's home; Mrs. Dresser was assisted by Mrs. Charles Ransom, co-hostess.

The afternoon came to a pleasant close at Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Miles Leoni's ranch in Carmel Valley.

Accompanying Mr. Silliman at all the homes open for the caravan tour, was Mrs. Mark Raggett, president of the Carmel Republican Women's Club.

John Burr Returns

John Burr has returned to make his home in Carmel after six years' absence. He most recently has been in Las Vegas writing for films and television. Previous to this he lived in Los Angeles where he wrote for the Bob Crosby show and various television dramas. Before moving to Nevada, Mr. Burr was Director of the Civic Theatre in Greater Miami, Florida.

During Easter vacation, John and his wife, Eleanor, and their three-year-old son, David, drove to Carmel from Las Vegas. Mrs. Burr loved the community so much that the family decided to move here as soon as John is able to find a home for them.

Stamp Club

In the program meeting Monday evening of the Monterey Peninsula Stamp Club, Alan C. Wigham gave a humorous talk on how he became a stamp collector. In 1890, he said, his mother-in-law started saving 100,000 stamps believing that these would support her in her old age. Wigham undertook the sale of these stamps and found that price varied from $1.25 to $1:50 per thousand. Meeting dealers and a number of collectors, Wigham started learning about stamps. His talk was filled with information on centering, condition and the joys of collecting.

With refreshments provided by L. S. Stallings and Mrs. Dolores Martin, a social hour followed.

The next meeting of the Monterey Peninsula Stamp Club will be an auction to be held in the Carmel High School Monday, May 2, at 8:00 o'clock.

Democrats' Club Lunch

The Board of the Carmel Women's Democratic Club met last Thursday at the home of Mrs. Eugene Watson and voted to turn the proceeds from this Saturday's luncheon over to the Fred Farr for Senate campaign fund. The affair, which starts at 12:30, will be held at the Rancho del Monte Country Club in Carmel Valley, and California's Attorney General, Edmund G. "Pat" Brown, will be guest speaker.

Mrs. James Campbell, president, presided at the meeting. Plans were outlined for a picnic in the early summer for members and their families and it was decided to set up a series of meetings to study and consider action being taken in Congress and in the State Legislature. Details on this will be announced later.

Panhellenic Tea for Students

"Campus Life" will be the theme of the Panhellenic Tea to be given for high school students on Sunday at the Carmel Woman's Club. Over 200 invitations have been sent to Pacific Grove, Carmel, Monterey, Salinas, Palma, Santa Catalina, and Junipero Serra High Schools, and to the Hartnell and Monterey Peninsula Junior Colleges.

From 3:00 to 5:00 o'clock the girls will sip tea, watch a motion picture about campus life, and listen to talks on college by one adult speaker and two girls from San Jose State College.

A luncheon at La Playa Hotel before the tea has been planned for the guest speakers.

Local Architect in Exhibit

Among several entries in an architectural exhibition announced by the San Francisco Museum of Art is Robert Jones' Monterey Peninsula Airport Building. The exhibition, entitled San Francisco Bay Region Architecture: A Current Report, is open to the public April 16 to May 8. The exhibit will then start on an 18-months tour of museums and art galleries in major cities throughout the United States, under the auspices of the Travelling Exhibition Service of the Smithsonian Institute.

Entries, initially suggested by the Chapter Executive Committee and the California Redwood Association, were screened and approved under the guidance of Norman Blanchard, A.I.A., and George Rockrise, A.I.A.

Morley Baer, a former Carmel photographer, received special credit for his work in the exhibit.

Murrey Coming Home

Word has been received from Murrey Wight, who left last December for a year's stay in Europe, that he is now on his way home on a 100-foot schooner named Coradina. He had spent less than two months in Europe when he got the chance to come home on this schooner, and he felt that it would be an unforgettable experience. He plans to land at Miami, Florida, about June 1, after visiting the Canary Islands and the West Indies.

Speaking Of Artichokes

Aside from being listed under "A" in the dictionary, artichokes are also noteworthy for being both delicious and nutritious.

Many people do not realize that there are other ways of preparing them than merely boiling them and serving with mayonnaise or melted butter.

But we of Pilot Market (Ocean Avenue above San Carlos) have news for you. For instance, did you ever scrape the leaf tips, chop up the hearts, throw in a few chives and mix all with cottage or cream cheese to use as a canape spread? No?

Or—did you ever mix a sharp cheese with bread crumbs and a hint of garlic to use as a stuffing for whole, almost cooked artichokes. If you do this, you place the finished product in a casserole with a cup of boullion and white wine and bake for a half hour or so, covered.

There are many other things to do with artichokes, and if you are interested come into Pilot Market and we will refer you to our chairman in charge of the Artichoke Division. (He is also in charge of wheeling small children around in one of our handy carry-alls.)

But, to go back to artichokes, we do not want to give the impression that Pilot Market carries nothing but that one particular item. We also carry apples, abalone, animals (beef, pork, lamb) and ant powder. (Sorry, no aardvarks.)

In our department listed under "B", you can find such items as bananas, bat wings (for hexes), Beagle food, bechamel sauce, beehive honey, Bell's poultry seasoning and bird seed.

We list these things for your convenience, because we are proud of our store. All-in-one shopping is your answer to Carmel's parking problem. Here is what to do: first, park your car. Then, walk into our spacious, well-lighted and excellently-stocked store and buy everything you need for breakfast, luncheon and dinner, to say nothing of between-meal snacks, school lunches, canine and feline needs, cocktail canapes and the Banquet for The Boss.

Our clerks are friendly and efficient and will do such things as reminding you that you are probably out of salt. (Are you?)

Next week, we will list some more of our items alphabetically, like the soup of the same name, and might even get into the "Z" department. That, of course, will include zuccini and we will tell you that if you have never dipped sliced zuccini in beaten egg and bread crumbs to fry gently in melted butter you just have not lived! Zuccini, incidentally, now in the market (Pilot Market, natch).

Teagues Pay Visit To Mozart's Piano, Rob Roy's Grave

By Jeanne Fratessa, Senior

An interview with the noted artist and illustrator, Donald Teague, on the subject of travel seemed of secondary importance. However, when I learned that Mr. Teague had made 21 trans-Atlantic crossings (not quite equal to his father's 38), I realized I was talking to a seasoned traveler as well as an artist. The interview soon took on the form of a fascinating travelogue.

Mr. and Mrs. Teague chose last summer for their European trip because their daughters Linda and Hillary, were at the point in their education where they could appreciate the sights which would bring to life all that they had read in books: Rob Roy's grave in Scotland, the fields of famous battles, the piano at which Mozart wrote his famous compositions, and the towns made famous by authors of old. All this was in store for them as they started off from Quebec.

Their first stop found them in Scotland, where they viewed the beautiful scenery of the Highlands before traveling to Edinburgh and London. From London they took side trips to other towns, including those made famous by Chaucer and Shakespeare, Canterbury and Stratford-on-Avon. A big leap from London landed the family in Zurich, Switzerland, where they picked up a car, unbelievably an American DeSoto. In their new vehicle of transportation, the Teagues drove south through St. Gottard Pass to Lugano and the Italian lake region. From their Venetian gondola they viewed the bridges on which Marco Polo contemplated his future travels. Turning north towards Austria and Germany, they encountered sunshine and snow over the passes. In Salsburg, Austria they witnessed the annual Music Festival and saw the castle of Fusch, in which Mussolini and other leaders held clandestine meetings during World War II. In Germany they visited the beautiful country of Garmisch, famous as a site of the winter Olympic Games. Through Innsbruck, Luchtenstein, Vaduz, and other cities of questionable pronunciation, the Teagues drove their last miles in the DeSoto, which they returned in Zurich, Switzerland. A flight to Paris and a five day stop-over there ended their wide-spread travels.

When asked to comment on the people whom he encountered during his trip, Mr. Teague said that he found the Scots and the Austrians extremely friendly and obliging. He also noticed that in most of the countries there was a wider interest in culture than in our country. And yet, at the end of their travels, the Teagues had a greater appreciation for what we have in America.

April 30 Is Date For Girls' League P. T. A. Carnival

By Cynthia Cox, Junior

April 30 is the date for the Annual Girls' League Scholarship Carnival at Carmel High School. This year the carnival will last from 11:00 to 4:30. Featured on the events list will be three one-act plays given by the high school drama class, a music program presented by the high school and elementary bands, and an auction.

This year the high school and their P.-T.A. will combine the money they take in and will use it to give two or three scholarships to graduating seniors, while the elementary school P.-T.A. will use the money they take in to finance their projects through the coming year.

A parade will open the affair. Upon arrival at the high school campus one will find many concessions designed to entertain and feed the crowd through the whole day.

Among the games planned to amuse the crowd will be a dart-throwing game, a pie-eating contest, a baseball throw and of course the game that all find most interesting, eating. Plenty of hot dogs, candy, ice cream and soft drinks will be on hand.

For the adults the P.-T.A. will sponsor a needlecraft booth, a baked food booth, and a luncheon to be served on the high school patio. Admission is free.

JSA CONVENTION IN FRESNO

The Carmel High School Junior Statesmen of America will leave for Fresno on Friday the 22nd, at 7:30 p.m. to attend a State Convention for the purpose of electing officers for the coming term. More than one thousand delegates and alternates will be present at the bi-annual convention.

The Carmel Chapter will submit plans for the coming Regional Convention to be held at Carmel in May.

Carmel High School will be represented by Charlotte Boyd, Leslie Geyer, Naida Smith, John Ross, Jim Hicks, Roger Shields, Tony Weaver, Dick Williams, Sharon Nielsen, and Chapter President, Kyrk Reid.

Mr. Aldwell and Mr. Moody will accompany the group on this trip. —Roger Shields, Junior.

ACCEPTED FOR COLLEGE

Several students in this year's senior class at Carmel High have received notices of acceptance from the colleges or universities of their choice. However, at the time of this writing many more notifications probably are on their way to Carmel, so this is only a partial list.

Those accepted to Stanford University are Jeanne Fratessa, Sarah McCloud, Lynn McMath and Priscilla Clark. Nancy Vaughan has been notified that her application to the University of Michigan was accepted. Fresno State has opened its doors to Pat Ricketts, while the University of Oregon has admitted Bonny Lynn Redhead and Sarah McCloud.

Stephens College in Missouri has accepted Connie Nielsen. College of the Pacific will be the destination of Terri Otterson and Sandra Six this fall.

Of special note is Leigh Buchanan's acceptance at Cornell University for it is accompanied by an $850 renewable scholarship.

PETITION CIRCULATES FOR SHRINE TEMPLE

Mr. F. J. Huxtable of Carmel is asking Monterey County Shriners to a sign a supplementary petition proposing a new Shrine temple to be established at San Jose. Now Peninsula Shriners belong to the Islam Temple in San Francisco.

El Zaraa has been chosen as the name for the proposed temple. In Arabic this means "the farming, agricultural or green area," which would be appropriate for the area included.

Santa Cruz, Watsonville, Monterey, Salinas, Palo Alto, and Santa Clara Valley Shrine clubs are now operating in the proposed temple area. The Santa Clara Valley Shrine Club, operating in San Jose, has more than 1300 members and will act as the nucleus and headquarters of the proposed El Zaraa Temple.

Sawyer's Case Vs. Water Co. To Have Hearing Wednesday

The California Public Utilities Commission announced yesterday a public hearing on the complaints of Charles G. Sawyer, developer of the Carmel Riviera, against the California Water and Telephone Company to be held on Wednesday at 10:00 o'clock in Few Memorial Hall.

Also at this meeting "there will be an investigation on the commission's own motion into the main extension, practices operations, contracts, and charter" of the water company, according to the commission's announcement.

French Consulate Representatives At S.P.C.A. Party

The wine-tasting party, to be given at Gallatin's Restaurant Sunday from 3:00 to 6:00 o'clock, will be attended by some distinguished French guests. They are the Baron and Baronne de la Doucette, M. and Mme. Daven and M. and Mme. Max Montalambert. All are attached to the French Consulat General in San Francisco. The Baron is the French Consul and Mme. Raven is the Cultural Attache. M. Raven and M. Monttalambert are Vice-Consuls. All are the guests of M. and Mme. August Armanasco of Pacific Grove. The Baron and Baronne and M. and Mme. Raven will stay with Mr. Noel Sullivan at Hollow Hills Farm, M. and Mme. Montalambert with M. and Mme. Armanasco. Mme. Armanasco will entertain the French guests at dinner on the Saturday night before the wine-tasting party.

The wine-tasting party, at which imported wines will be offered, both to taste and as door prizes, is for the benefit of the Monterey County Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, which is endeavouring to pay off the indebtedeness for its new shelter. Reservations may be made by telephoning to Lady Kinnoull, Carmel 7-6684.

ORGAN RECITAL AT ALL SAINTS' SUNDAY

All Saints' Church, Carmel, will present Cpl. Larry King, one of its parishioners, in an organ recital Sunday evening at 5:00 o'clock. Corporal King, is chief clerk in the Chaplains' section at Fort Ord, and is organist for services in the Fifth Street Chapel, and the Post Stockade.

Prior to his induction into the Armed Forces, King was head organist at the First Methodist Church in Riverside. At the University of Redlands he studied with Dr. Leslie P. Spelman and Clarence Mader of Los Angeles.

King is well known in Southern California as organist and accompanist. He has appeared in recitals in many churches, and has been active in the work of the American Guild of Organists in California, having been the founder of the Orange Coast Chapter.

A TRIP TO THE EAST COAST

My mother, Dorothy B. Gray, and father went on a trip to the East. My father is a minister and my mother is a housewife. They went across country in a train. They went to the New England States. They saw some beautiful maple trees and leaves. I think they liked it very much.

Tell Me About Your Vacation . . . 6th Grade

tle insignia of Austrian towns.

The inhabitants speak mainly German and are very industrious. Austrians love beautiful music. Strauss was an Austrian composer who was born in Vienna. He wrote some of the most famous waltzes, including the Blue Danube. The houses of the people are very interesting. Pictures are painted on the outside of the houses and flowers are grown, too. The stores have bright gilded signs hanging out over the shop. A bakery shop would have a loaf of bread on its sign for its symbol.

Austria has numerous castles where tourists may visit. Altogether the country is lovely. Its people are wholesome and happy!

A TRIP TO LAKE TAHOE

Last summer some friends asked my family to stay with them at Lake Tahoe. My Mother and Father said we would.

On Thursday we left Carmel at 2:00 o'clock and got there at 9:00. We met our friends there and we all went to the cabin. That night when we went to bed, it was real cold.

The next morning when it was time to get up we ate breakfast and went exploring down by the lake. It was hard to get down there because we went through the bushes. When we got back it was time to eat lunch.

We went to bed that night and the next morning we played hide and go seek. It had a big lot in back so it was a lot of fun.

We went downtown that afternoon and they have many stores with Indian clothes. They also have a lot of boats. We were going to ride in one but it was too windy. We went swimming in the lake and went out on the dock too. The whole trip was very interesting and the part I liked best was when we went swimming in the lake. —Kathleen Henderson, 6th Grade

YELLOWSTONE PARK

Yellowstone National Park is one of the few places in the world where there are geysers. But people have not respected the geysers. A favorite stunt was to put your handerchief down a hole and hope it would come up another hole. Other geysers were used as trash-cans. Now the geysers have been cleaned out and it is against the law to throw trash into them.

There are a few head of buffalo left in Yellowstone.

Yellowstone got its name from a yellow stone which was found in Yellowstone Canyon. There is also a waterfall in Yellowstone Canyon that is 360 feet high.

There are black bear in the park, and many people feed them. It is against the law to feed the bears. I was quite thrilled with Yellowstone.

OREGON CAVES

Last summer I went to Oregon to see the Oregon Caves.

It was very warm but inside the caves it was very cool. A guide took us through the caves and explained the strange formations.

The caves were discovered by a man who was hunting a bear. The bear ran into the entrance of the caves and fell into a big hole.

There is writing in the caves on the walls. It is covered with limestone but you can still read it.

There are two natural entrances and one man-made entrance that is used to leave the caves. The man-made tunnel is 500 feet long and made of solid rock.

An underground stream runs through the caves and the fish in it are blind as they have no eyes.

There are lights all through the caves and nice guides take you through the caves.

—Randy Bishop, 6th Grade

A TRIP TO CANADA

In the summer of 1952, Joan Willicombe and her mother went to Canada with a few friends. Two of the most interesting cities were Montreal and Quebec. Both of the cities were old fashioned. There are as many horses and buggies as there are cars in some parts of the city. The milk is delivered this way.

The next day they drove to Quebec, which is the capital of the province by that name. It did not seem as big as Montreal and was very quiet. Quebec is the Province where most of the people speak French.

While in Quebec Joan walked into a store one day and asked where the doll clothes were. The clerk looked at her watch, looked at Joan again and said, "Six o'clock." The clerk thought Joan had asked what time it was!

HONDURAS BY FREIGHTER

In 1928 my father, Richard Blaney, left Boston on a boat headed for Honduras. The cargo was potatoes, paper and railroad ties. The boat's first stop was Havana, Cuba, where they left the cargo, battened down the hatches and went on to Honduras with no cargo.

When they got to Honduras they loaded bananas with a conveyor belt just as a banana train came in from the interior. Native workers were down in the hatches and took the bananas from the conveyor belt. Before they put them up they searched for tarantulas. On the way back nothing happened, but when they got to Boston they killed one.

A TRIP TO LAKE TAHOE

Last summer our family and grandmother went to Lake Tahoe. We had a small car and we had Randy (my baby brother) with us. Though we were crowded we packed in and were on our way. Randy was always crying. We had a hard time. We stopped at Stockton for lunch. We have friends who live there but they were not at home. Randy was crying. When we finally got to Tahoe my father was all tired out —so were we! We got to our house, unpacked and found we had a beautiful view of the lake. It was so beautiful! I got sick because the weather was damp. But we all had a good time.

A TRIP TO CURIOUS CANYON

Once up in Oregon we went to a spot called Curious Canyon. It was real fun. First we went to a creek (which was in the same place), where you could mine gold. I did! But didn't get any. We went to a house on the side of a hill where you seemed to stand at an angle of 45 degrees. In another house there was a man with a tennis ball. It took twice as much force to roll down hill as it did to roll up hill. So I can sure see why they call it Curious.

—Andy Jensen, 6th Grade

SAYNER LAKE

Last summer my mother and father took my brother, a friend and me to Sayner Lake for two weeks. My grandfather owns a cabin up there and we have lots of fun. We go swimming, hunting and fishing all the time. I like fishing the best so I went every morning. So did my brother. The fishing is very good. The swimming is excellent. We have a one-man life boat and have lots of fun with it. My grandfather has a motor boat and we go all over the lake in it. There is one store and a ferry up there. The merchandise is expensive. There are tame deer there and we play with them.

FOUR BOYS TOUR THE EAST

August 14, 1932, four boys from Columbus went on a tour to the East Coast. They were Ted Fehring (my father), Karl Schaefer, Herb Boschen and Milton Michael. The car they drove was a Model-T Ford without a top. They counted the hitch hikers along the way from Indianapolis to Mt. Vernon, Ohio. There were 96 of them. At the Akron airport they saw the Airship Akron being made. They saw Niagara Falls lighted up at night. It rained a little bit while they were there. They got a little bit wet because they had no top on the car. But they went into a gas station and waited till the rain stopped. Things were very cheap in those days. They each spent only $11.00 in four days.

They went along the Hudson River and there they saw West Point. In New York they took a ferry boat ride and it only took five cents apiece. They visited the Statue of Liberty and saw the New York City skyline. They saw an aquarium which is one of the largest in the world. Then they went back home to Columbus.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

Man's God-given dominion over the bondage of fear will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday.

The Lesson-Sermon entitled "Probation after Death" will include the following from the King James Version of the Bible (Hebrews 2:9, 15): "But we see Jesus, who was made a little lower than the angels for the suffering of death, crowned with glory and honour; that he by the grace of God should taste death for every man. . . . And deliver them who through fear of death were all their lifetime subject to bondage."

Among the correlative passages to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, is the following (426:16): "When it is learned that disease cannot destroy life, and that mortals are not saved from sin or sickness by death, this understanding will quicken into newness of life. It will master either a desire to die or a dread of the grave, and thus destroy the great fear that besets mortal existence."

Here Is Schedule For Public School Week in Carmel

her slides on First Days at School. feature Mrs. Marcia Devoe and These will be shown in the River Kindergarten room at 7:30 o'clock.

The Carmel Woods School will again have their Spring Festival as their contribution to Public Schools Week.

The program will be held on the lawn of the school at 11:00 o'clock Thursday morning, April 28, and will consist of the following: the Woods School Choir singing five numbers, a skit presented by the kindergarten, entitled The Story Book Comes To Life, and folk dances by the First, Second and Third Grades.

The traditional picnic lunch will be held on the lawn and reservations can be made by telephoning the Woods School office. All are welcome to come to their program.

Sunset School, as usual, has a busy schedule for Public Schools Week. Special activities will include a Folk Dance Festival on Monday at 1:30, a Choir and Band Concert on Tuesday at 2:35, a Dramatic Club Play at 1:05 and the Father-Son baseball game at 3:45 on Wednesday, the Fourth and Fifth Grade assembly on Thursday at 10:40, and a Student Body meeting at 1:00 o'clock on Friday.

In addition each class will have a specific period during the week to which the public is invited.

Parking Dist. Hearing Continued Until May 4

61 percent.

Mr. Gordon Campbell asked the Council if they meant that anyone could add to or withdraw his name from the petition between now and the date of the final decision. They said yes. He also asked if other petitions could be started, and they assured him that this was so.

Mr. Francis Whitaker, member of the Council, said that he had heard of a petition to take names off the present petition, and besides that, another petition to outdo the latter petition!

Mr. Campbell suggested that the Council accept the petition subject to verification. The Council argued that they couldn't possibly do anything on the petition until Mr. Mawdsley verified the names.

Mrs. Jeanie Klenke expressed her disappointment in the action of the Council on the parking issue. She said that she and others had worked very hard securing the signatures on the petition, and pointed out the mayor had promised it would settle the matter at this meeting.

Councilman John Chitwood moved that the public hearing be continued until May 4 at 8:00 o'clock. The motion was passed.

Another problem that was discussed was brought to the attention of the Council by Mr. Whitaker. He said that he had been shown some garbage taken from the trash cans on the beach, and that it was obvious that this garbage had belonged to residents in the Scenic Drive area and not from picnickers or weekend guests. Mrs. Gladys Johnston said that she would be more than willing to cooperate with anything the Council adopted to remedy this situation.

So—at the unbelievable hour of 8:45, the Carmel City Council adjourned their meeting.

Preceding the public hearing on the parking district, the Council held an adjourned meeting last night at 7:30 to discuss some matters held over from their previous meeting.

First on the agenda was an application by the Blue Bird Tearoom for a liquor license. Because of lack of information, this matter will be taken up at an adjourned meeting Tuesday at 7:15 o'clock, preceding the joint planning commission - council conference with Laurence Livingston, Jr., planning consultant from San Francisco.

The major street project concerning the work to be done on Junipero from Fifth to Ocean Avenue, has been approved by the State. Work on the street will be started early in May.

The council suggested that Otto Well, representative of the Union Oil Company, take up his driveway application and the Council's suggestions, with the company engineer, and then present his plan at a later date.

Concerning the defective sidewalks around town, Mr. Whitaker suggested that the street superintendent be authorized to paint the sidewalk defects with yellow paint so that these hazards could be plainly seen by pedestrians. It was passed that Mr. Askew take care of the matter.

Board Recommends Regulations For Carmel Meadows

that an ordinance is needed to the effect that all old commercial building plans issued, before the 1st of January and never carried out, should be rescinded.

Second item of business pertained to definition of a single family dwelling. The Building Inspector said that this is needed in the approving of house plans. It was decided temporarily that all parts of the house must be inter-accessible.

Three recommendations were sent to the county planning commission regarding the proposed Mission Fields Tract No. 2 in the artichoke fields which front on Highway No. 1 north of Carmel River Bridge. They advised the county planning commission that it should be aware of flood conditions on this land; that it should require that no board fence be built along the highway frontage, that extensive planting strips should be left between subdivision land and the highway. That the subdivisions in general should be required to set aside, whenever possible, sufficient land for recreation area and for future school purposes.

A petition for the admittance of the Walker Tract and the addition of an ordinance defining the qualifications of a single-dwelling were postponed until a later date.

Navy Relief Ball Saturday

This Saturday night, April 23, from 9:00 to 2:00 o'clock, the Naval Postgraduate School at Monterey will hold its annual Navy Relief Ball.

The ball marks the end of the two-week drive to raise funds for the Navy Relief Society.

Lions Terrific Show Set For Saturday Night

This Saturday night at 8:00 o'clock in the recreational hall at the Mission Ranch, the Carmel Lions Club will present their seventh annual Variety Show. Mrs. Frank Gordon of San Francisco has given her time free to direct the show, which promises to be the best ever.

The show consists of a surprise program, which most of the members of the club don't even know about. The program will offer comedy and music—both instrumental and vocal.

Following the program, there will be dancing until 1:00 o'clock.

All proceeds of the show will go to the Youth and Charitable Activities Fund.
